

Expanding our Circle: New Residential Quarters

Kishorit's residential quarters provide the feel of dignified, private homes rather than institutional units. These homes form the cornerstone of the Kishorit community. To stroll down the street in Kishorit is to walk in a suburban neighborhood with beautiful landscaping and friendly neighbors.

A Place of Autonomy

Kishorit aims to service its members at all stages of the adult life cycle. Members are given autonomy over their living arrangements, personal choices, and relationships. Members may choose to live alone, with a friend, or with a romantic partner.

Kishorit's Urgent Need

Kishorit is currently at maximum capacity and cannot accept any new members, despite our growing waiting list and the desperate need for Kishorit's services. In order to help more families find a long-term vocational and residential solution for their adult children with special needs, we must build 10 new residential units.

Some housing units will be geared for singles, some for couples, and others for flatmates of the same gender. The units will be 40 sq.m., including 1-2 private bedrooms, a kitchenette, a sitting area, and a private bathroom. Every unit will open onto a central garden and have access to the main path in Kishorit. Every unit will be fully wheelchair accessible and outfitted with special features including panic buttons and intercoms from which Kishorit members can call for help.

Become Our Partner

Kishorit does not receive any government funding for this purpose. Therefore, as we strive to expand our utopian community, we must rely solely on the generosity of friends from around the world.

Each home costs $100,000 to construct. A new mini-neighborhood of ten homes costs $1,000,000 and will be named in honor of the donor or in memory of their loved one.

Your sponsorship of one or more residential units will provide peace of mind to aging parents who can no longer care for their adult children.
